SPECIALISTS IN SCHOOL AND COLLEGE TEXT BOOKS

Offering Definite War Time Economies

If it's a school-book you want, we can furnish it—if still in print. In these days of high cost and rigid economy the saving in price between second-hand and new books is a vital matter.

Did it ever occur to you that no other industry is organized as is the School-book business to reduce cost to the consumer by distribution of used material? In the development of this distinctive industry the heads of this Company have had no small part, and now that war-time-savings are imperative this organization for reducing school-book costs is already established and awaits your co-operation.

We can supply any school or college text book. As we are in the center of all school-book publishers we can, if desired, fill your order completely making one express or mail charge—a great saving to you. Our discounts from the Publishers' List Prices are: NEW books in stock at 25 per cent; SHELF-WORN at from 30 per cent to 40 per cent; and SECOND-HAND at from 50 per cent to 60 per cent—no charge for case or cartage. If we do not have in stock the books you want, we will buy from the publishers—if so instructed—billing them to you at a discount of 12½ per cent to 16⅔ per cent, depending on the rate we receive. A trial order will convince you of the advantages of buying all your books at one store, billed under one account. Send for our latest Bargain List.

If you have on your shelves any second-hand or new school or college text books that have become unsalable with you, send us a list for our offer.

Help Yourself by Buying Early—A Warning

WE DESIRE most earnestly to warn schoolboards, bookdealers, and others against putting off their purchase of schoolbooks. All school contracts should be made and orders for anything for schools should be placed at once. Under no circumstances should there be any delay.

Never before in the history of this country have the conditions of the times made the purchase and delivery of all kinds of goods so difficult and uncertain. The growing drain on the labor market, the shortage of fuel, the restrictions as to transportation, the great increase of government work, have combined to hamper the service rendered by schoolbook publishers as well as other manufacturers. Freight congestion and embargoes and express delays are the rule these days and are steadily growing worse.

We therefore repeat: Buy early and buy liberally so that schools will have sufficient books and supplies for the fall opening.

The Winston Simplified Dictionary is the only dictionary that is not an abridgement or adaptation of a larger work. It has been prepared especially for educational use and defines each entry in clear and easily understood language.

The Vocabulary of over thirty thousand words has been carefully selected and includes all the newer words created by the war, science, etc.

The Pronunciation of words is indicated by a phonetic respelling with diacritical markings. These diacritical marks will be familiar to all, as the system used is the one which has been generally adopted in school and college text books. As a further aid to the quick pronunciation of each word, the key to the pronunciation is given at the foot of each page.

Other new and outstanding features are the interesting story of How Our Language Has Grown, a Dictionary of Mythology, a Glossary of Business Terms, a Complete Table of Weights and Measures including the Metric System, Compound and Simple Interest Tables, etc., etc.

SCHOOL BOOK PUBLISHERS FACE WAR TIME CONDITIONS

WHILE the readjustments of war time now affect every manufacturing and retail business, there is perhaps no branch of the book-trade activity that is so hard pressed by conditions that are thrust upon it, as the school book trade. The great increase in the cost of making books—paper, printing, and the like, affects the school book production more heavily than other publishing, because here manufacturing cost is a larger percentage of the total selling price than is the case with other classes of books.

Some publishers in the last two years have been able to postpone increases in price because of paper and printing contracts that tided a season over, but now the full force of the increased cost is bearing on every title in active sale, and while these costs go up in leaps and bounds it is difficult for the school book publishers to get any proportion of this back from the consumer.

Probably half of the school book business is done on contract basis. In many cases these contracts provide that there shall be a flat price on the book for a term of five years during which the quality of the paper and illustrations shall not be changed. In making new contracts, the publishers have usually been asked to testify that prices quoted are as low as those for which the same books are being offered for sale in any other state.

Another heavy expense which affects the text-book conditions is the increase in transportation cost. A large part of this expense must be borne by the publisher, as his prices are quoted f.o.b. the point of deposit in many contracts. These amount to more than forty per cent increase over a year ago and this is over and above the increase in the cost of packing, twine and shipping insurance and everything that goes into that department of expense.

To a very large extent, the publishers have curtailed new plans in their publishing field and closely scrutinized every item that goes into the office and selling expense. Such increases of price as have been made do not at all represent the increase in the cost of production. In the new Educational List a large proportion of the titles show increases in selling price, and of the changes none are over five or ten per cent except in the case of books imported from England, where the American publishers do not control the selling price. Such a showing is an extraordinary testimony to the way in which American text-book publishers are meeting the problems of war times, and in this field the American public has been amply protected from increased expenses by the public spirit of manufacture.

In systematizing the conservation of paper, the Government is now taking a hand with text-book publishers as well as with publishers in other fields and will now put uniform restriction on the output. These restrictions will limit the number of new titles, curtail the giving of sample copies, will control the weight of paper that shall be used and the amount that can be used for circulars and other advertising purposes. These regulations are made up from suggestions worked out between the Government and the Committee representing the publishers, and are embodied in the questionnaire we print elsewhere in this issue.

By making uniform regulations for all competitors in this field, it will make it easier for every publisher to retrench and thus keep the prices down. The publishers do not face an easy problem and they deserve and will need the co-operation and understanding of all consumers in order that text-book publishing which has reflected much credit on American education and made such a contribution to the American progress, shall not suffer too severely during this period.

ORGANIZATION OF EDUCATIONAL PUBLISHERS

An address before the Educational Publishers Department of the National Educational Association at Atlantic City by Wm. E. Pulsifer, President of D. C. Heath & Co.

We are living and attempting to do business in a time that tries men's souls. Never during the thirty-three years since I have been connected with the educational publishing business has it been so difficult to steer a safe course as now, for never has it been so well-nigh impossible to take accurate soundings in order to tell whether our craft is headed straight towards dangerous shoals.

Never before has there been a time since my recollection of the business when cost prices have jumped by leaps and bounds two or three times in a year. We have been faced since the beginning of the war with constantly increasing paper prices; constantly increasing composition, press work and binding prices; constantly increasing cost of office supplies; constantly increasing salaries; constantly increasing hotel expenses of traveling men, all of which have raised the manufacturing and overhead costs of our business to an alarming degree. The time certainly has become exigent beyond human reckoning. Were the educational publishers able to charge these extra costs to the ultimate consumers, as men in other lines of business have done by fixing a price high enough to absorb the extra expense of overhead and materials, it would indeed be fortunate; but in our case price seems to be a constant and cost a variable.

Some of the publishers have increased their list prices by small percentages, but not enough to recoup the losses occasioned by the extra cost of manufacturing; others have not increased the prices of the books published before 1916 at all, but are pricing their new books and recent revisions of old ones high enough to return some profit upon the money invested in them plus the selling expense.

Permit me to recall your attention for a few minutes at this critical time to the earnest and emphatic recommendation that has been made in the recent past by some of the wisest and most experienced men in our business that the educational publishers of the United States should organize a carefully planned business association to which each and every member of the trade should belong. The gentlemen who have advised the organization of such an association desired to see the business conducted upon such economical lines that all waste should be eliminated, unprofitable competition discontinued and overproduction discouraged. They recommended a business association whose constitution and by-laws, as well as the records of whose meetings, should be open books that the public could inspect at any time. They suggested no price fixing, no stifling of healthy competition or anything else forbidden by law or contrary to the highest moral and ethical business standards. They thought of an association like that described by Mr. Hurley, formerly of the Federal Trade Commission, who spoke to us at Washington and who, at considerable length, pointed out the necessity of finding and knowing costs if a safe business would be done. He felt that this, perhaps, could best be ascertained by a frank interchange of data on the part of men engaged in the same kind of business and working together in the right sort of association. You recall his comment upon the reports sent the Commission by partnerships and corporations, namely, that a large per cent (in fact about 90 per cent) of those who had sent them did not appear to know what their costs really were. He told us of the assistance that had been rendered by some of the most careful and painstaking men directing a prosperous business to the directors of other and less prosperous businesses in the matter of ascertaining exact cost. He told us that it was impossible for business men, who did not know accurately the real cost of goods manufactured, to fix a fair and reasonable price which would yield them a living profit upon the sale of their manufactured product.

There was submitted to the publishers at the Washington meeting a composite statement of the cost of production for the year 1915, for the confidential information of the members of the United Typothetae and Franklin Clubs of America, which was compiled by the American Printers' Cost Commission from individual statements furnished by members. Some of you procured copies of this statement. I have brought mine to this meeting in order that any of you who failed to get a copy might have a chance to see how helpful to the members of the United Typothetae and Franklin Clubs in figuring exact cost this statement is. You will notice on the right-hand side of this sheet the following language: "This valuable Cost Statement is made possible only because of the unselfish co-operation given by a comparatively small percentage of our membership. With more individual plants represented this statement would be of greater value. Will you, in the future, assist in this important work by furnishing your cost data when requested to do so?"

Please note that this statement has been freely and cheerfully distributed to persons interested to see it. It is also worthy of remark that the members of the United Typothetae and the Franklin Clubs do not seem to be afraid to let the committee of these clubs see and examine their cost tables in order that they may get the best advice the committee has to give them, as to whether or not their calculations are scientifically made and their prices right.

The United States Government encourages trade associations in the interest of the ultimate consumer, the idea being that associations made up of men prosecuting the same kind of business can and will find ways of economizing and so of possibly reducing the price of their output. The Government understands the meaning of wasteful competition and tries to discourage it.

The great businesses of the country, like the banking, the hotel, the woolen, the cotton, the insurance, the coal, the steel and iron, not to mention hundreds of others, have their associations, which are clearing houses for plans and policies of the individual members of such associations.

The United States Department of Commerce in 1915 issued a booklet entitled "Commercial Organizations in the United States," which gives the names of over 430 interstate and national, and over 410 state and territorial commercial organizations. Among these are associations of manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and growers of agricultural products. There are in some cases many associations devoted to different branches of the same trade. In addition are listed over 4000 local organizations such as chambers of commerce, commercial clubs, boards of trade, credit associations, employers' associations, and mixed bodies of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. The local chambers of commerce, commercial clubs and boards of trade about four years ago formed the United States Chamber of Commerce, which has headquarters at Washington. One of the principal purposes of this United States Chamber of Commerce is the collection of accurate and authentic information, which can be used not only for the direct benefit of members of the Chamber of Commerce, but also for the information of the law-makers when considering questions that have to do with commerce. This disseminating of authentic information for the benefit of the law-makers is of great importance at this time of social unrest. With this purpose in view, there has recently been organized an Association of Owners of Railroad Securities—an association that now numbers about 600,000 members and includes individual owners of railroad bonds, preferred stocks and common stocks.

One of the purposes of this association is to remove from the minds of the common people and of legislators the idea that the railroads are owned by men of great wealth and to show the public that every man who has saved and invested any amount of money or who has a life or fire insurance policy is interested in the stability and security of railroad investments.

A publishers' association, such as I have in mind, would find it of great advantage to collect, classify and elaborate accurate statistics and information regarding the educational publishing business, concerning which the general public and the legislatures in particular are in sad need of definite knowledge. Such information could be legitimately used upon many occasions and to the advantage not only of the publishers, but to the still greater advantage of the teachers and pupils of the public and private schools.

At this particular time, when the combined judgment of the representative business men engaged in the prosecution of a trade is so necessary in order to master unusual business conditions, the value of associations is beyond estimate.

Why is it that the houses engaged in the business of publishing and distributing educational books cannot easily be organized into a business association? Is it possible that the members of our trade have become so suspicious of each other that they dare not meet on common ground for the purpose of discussing matters of great interest to the business? Are we, do you think, so different in our business practices or our mental make-up from the bankers and the insurance men, for instance, that we can't safely do what these men freely, and apparently to their great advantage, do, namely, come together periodically to discuss and settle matters of great interest to their business?

If it is true that the past has handed down to the school book publishers of the present day bitter jealousies, an accumulation of suspicion, a great wave of distrust, it is high time, in my judgment, that the present-day publishers wipe all this off their maps, and learn to have more confidence in the integrity, the motives and the purposes of their neighbors in the trade. Shall we as modern publishers forever be burdened by the traditions of the past? Shall we forever refuse to meet on common ground without distrust men engaged in our kind of business?

If the educational publishers were working together in the right sort of association, thousands and thousands of dollars that are being spent needlessly, foolishly and wastefully might, in my judgment, be saved. Heaven knows these dollars are needed in these troublesome times to pay the extra cost of manufacturing and the largely increased overhead expense that to-day are severely burdensome.

I have such an abiding faith in the right intentions of my business neighbors that I am not disposed to believe that a business association made up of a majority of the houses engaged in educational publishing is impossible.

If an association were organized and some of the members of the trade decided not to come in, let those who do join such an association show the doubters the benefits resulting from such organization. Those who stay out will soon observe such a spirit of comity on the part of the members as will challenge the admiration and respect of the most capacious critic or skeptical doubter of the wisdom of their brother publishers, who have planned and perfected a business association. They will soon see that the association is attempting to do nothing that can rightfully be frowned upon by the Government or by the people whom the publishers serve; that the members of the association are only trying to devise ways and means of serving better the educational world; of publishing the best books at reasonable prices; of giving up all those wasteful practices which have been an incubus upon the business. But if any educational publisher in spite of compelling evidence of the wisdom and efficiency of a business association of his neighbors in the trade continues to flock by himself, refusing to collaborate with them in their attempts to benefit the whole trade, he should be made to realize that the time has long since passed when any one man or any small group of men can benefit for but a brief period at the expense of the larger group.

The following record made by the late Mr. D. C. Heath may be of interest to the younger educational publishers, showing, as it does, the kind of business associations that have existed in the past and the years when they were in existence:

Year 1801—First Booksellers' Association, formed to Regulate Auction Sales.

Year 1802—First School Book Publishers' Association, formed to Manufacture School Books instead of Importing them.

Years 1855 to 1861—American Publishers' Association, formed to regulate Trade Sales, discuss copyright matters, etc.

Year 1870—School Book Publishers Board of Trade formed (March), and traveling agents abolished.

Year 1872—Limited number of agents allowed.

Year 1872—Harpers left the association.

Year 1873—Unlimited agents called for.

Years 1874 to 1876—Continued its work tho shorn of much of its usefulness until

Year 1877—March, when two of the leading firms go out and the School Book Publishers' Board of Trade dies. All attempts to resuscitate it failed, and in Year 1878—The Tripartite Alliance was formed.

Year 1880—Tripartite Alliance forms a new compact.

Year 1881—D. Appleton & Co. join the Alliance and form The Four House Agreement.

Year 1882—Other houses joined and formed an Organization with a Secretary and a Board of Arbitration, which continued until Year 1884—The School Book Publishers' Association was formed (February), including the above and other houses, making 18 in all.

Years 1885 to 1890—J. B. Lippincott Co. retired. School Book Publishers' Association dies and the A. B. C. is formed.

Years 1891 to 1895—Certain of the School

Book Houses work under an understanding until

Years 1895 to 1898—The dinner arrangement was inaugurated, which continued until 1898.

Years 1898 to 1918—No association existent until Department of Educational Publishers was created and admitted (1916) as one of the Departments of the N. E. A. This is not a Business Association.

It is clearly evident, judging from this record, that persistent and serious efforts, during the past century, were made by the publishers of educational books to hold their business to the highest standards of efficiency, ethics, and economy.

"The chief good," said Mr. Heath, "that the several school book organizations have done is to show the responsibilities of and the dangers which threatened our business; they have restricted wasteful competition; limited the number of agents; reduced personalities and bitterness in contests; fostered friendly feeling and made the whole work less anxious, and more agreeable and satisfactory in character."

If in the early days of our business when legislatures had not attempted to fix the prices of books sold to the schools; when manufacturing costs were much lower than now; when the annual output of school books was a great deal less than it is to-day; when the prices of educational publications were vastly higher than they now are; when salaries of employees and traveling expenses of agents were, at least, fifty per cent lower than in 1918; in short, when all the conditions affecting the trade were much more favorable than we are now obliged to face, our forbears thought it necessary and important in the interest of their business to organize associations, is it not now much more necessary and important for us, in view of present conditions, to band ourselves together in the sort of business association for the creation of which I have been contending, lo, these many years?

COLLEGES TO TRAIN SOLDIERS OF THE FUTURE

The War Department authorizes the statement that President R. C. Maclaurin, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has just reported in Washington to act as the educational head of a students' army training corps, which will make of every important college in the country a military training post for the training of the men for the Army, Navy, and essential industries.

By the time students reach the draft age they will be ready to enter the Army, the Navy, or the essential industries, with enough military and professional training to make them useful as officers, or as experts in the many lines, military or civil, essential in modern warfare.

SCHOOL BOOK PRICES AND INCREASING COSTS

An address by Mr. Haviland Stevenson of Silver Burdett & Co.

I have been asked to speak very briefly on the question of the relation of prices of school books to their manufacturing cost and to net profits. As I see it, this question involves and embraces most, if not all, of our vital problems, and I do not, therefore, hope to do more in the few minutes allotted to me than to call attention to some of the embarrassments of our business and to make a few suggestions of possible amelioration, which you may or may not think worthy of your consideration.

Now, in the first place in what manner and upon what principles do we school book publishers arrive at the list price of a given book? It is all very definite and all very simple. We take manufacturing cost, which includes the cost of paper, printing and binding, and add author's royalty and a certain per cent which experience has taught us represents the cost of doing business which each book must proportionately carry. Having estimated the actual cost of publishing and distributing a book, we add a reasonable and living net profit, which has never been excessive, owing to the acute competition in the trade. The custom has invariably been to quote as low a price as possible. If this were not so a house would not be competitive. Now, the various items I mention fix our list and our lowest wholesale prices; but these prices so established are predicated upon the assumption that there will be no material advance in manufacturing cost, or in the other costs of doing business,—a basis proved to be erroneous in the past and at present almost confiscatory. Let me illustrate:

The price, say 40 cents, placed upon a book by a publisher in 1915 was based upon the price of paper in 1915, and on the cost of manufacture in 1915, and upon the cost of doing business in 1915, and, so fixed, yielded a reasonable and living profit. What was the status of that book in 1917 and what is it in the year 1918? In 1917, the paper upon which it was printed cost approximately 70% more than in 1915, and the cost of binding had reached during the year a figure approximately 30% more than in the year 1915, while at the same time the other costs of doing business, which lack of time prevents my giving in detail, had substantially increased. That book, therefore, we printed, bound and distributed in 1917 at little or no profit to the publisher. I could mention, if I desired, a number of texts published by various houses that are being sold under contract to-day at an actual loss. But, and here is where the galled jade winces, whenever and wherever books are sold under contract, the 1915 prices are unchanged and unchangeable. We have the anomaly of a useful and absolutely necessary business being conducted upon the principle, in so far as contract business is concerned, that the selling price of a book cannot be controlled as the cost of production varies.

Is there another article of commerce in the world where cost of production and marketing does not establish and regulate the selling price? I think not; certainly not in any activity touched by competition. Gentlemen, the desideratum of this business is, as I see it, annual catalogs quoting changes in prices, either up or down, as commodity prices vary, and the cost of production is raised or lowered. The cost of a school book would, naturally, be stable during an entire school year, but there is no reason under high heaven why, if 40 cents was a proper price for a book in 1915 and the cost of producing that book was tremendously increased in 1916 or 1917, the list price should remain the same. It is absurd and dangerous and against the interests not only of school book houses, but against the vital interests of our great American schools, for our safety, our business success, our growth, and, therefore, our increasing usefulness, are inevitably interrelated and definitely associated with the growth and usefulness of the country's schools, as much so as the improvement in housing, or the training of teachers.

Now, why is it so difficult to change the price of a school book once established? It is because city after city, county after county, and state after state, have demanded that the publisher sign affidavits, or contracts, or both, that he has never sold, and is not now selling in any school district in the United States, the book he is bidding on at a lower price than his present quotation. I am quoting verbatim from a state contract. A world's war has occasioned increases in all commodity prices, and, altho paper and cloth and power and labor have increased in cost, the selling price of a school book must remain the same even tho sold at a loss. How have we met these conditions? We have either stood the present loss, waiting and hoping for a reduction in the cost of production; have practically retired certain texts, replacing with new publications; have revised and enlarged a given book so that it will carry a price commensurate with its cost; or published special editions; all makeshifts and all unsatisfactory. In addition, a number of houses have increased slightly their list prices in non-contract territory, but the situation has only been slightly improved.

The distressing conditions surrounding our business that I have alluded to are, of course, entirely familiar to you. Is there anything that we can do to change these conditions and to place our business on a parity with all other legitimate, useful and necessary commercial activities? We ask no special dispensation, no guarantees, no subsidies, drawbacks, rebates or differentials, no discrimination in favor of ourselves and against others.

We simply ask to be allowed to manufacture and sell school books to any one wishing to buy them under trade conditions governing every other commodity. Why should the publication and sale of school books be twisted and contorted like Medusa's snakes, and then legislated into the public utility class along with tank lines, light and power plants, et cetera? By what specious reasoning can it be argued that special state statutes should control our business even though such legislation violates the laws of trade and commerce? "Of all injustice, that is the greatest which goes under the name of law; and of all sorts of tyranny the forcing of the letter of the law against the equity is the most unsupportable."

Ah, but some one says, you deal with state boards and city boards, and contract with them for two years, or four years, or five years, at a stated price. Granted, and we expect to fulfill in good faith all such contracts. But school books are by no means the only commodity sold under contract to individuals and boards representing the public. Does it follow, because we contract to supply for a time a given book at a stated price, that we hereafter lose control of our business in so far as that book is concerned? It would seem so. It is not, however, true of contract business in other lines.

Manifestly, it is much easier to call attention to our ills than it is to offer a satisfactory remedy. But our ills are real and undeserved and cannot be characterized as melancholy pathophobia. Now, what can we do? First, I suggest that we take steps to meet the tremendous economic changes that will surely follow the world's peace. Business will never be conducted in this country, after the war, as at present. In my opinion, helpful co-operation will take the place of ruinous competition. Every special business activity will have a trade organization, legalized and approved by the national government. There will be a court or commission of competent authority to hear complaints and to right wrongs, whether of trade and commerce, or of the purchasing public. There will be an end to heckling of legitimate business and unjust, onerous laws, national or state, and the public, as well as honest business will cease to be exploited by corners and combinations. Is this an iridescent dream, without form or substance? I think not. Consider industrial Germany before the war! Such conditions existed there, and explain in large measure why the most dastardly nation since the dawn of civilization has been enabled to fight on and on against decency and liberty, tho' outgunned and outmanned.

We need a trade organization, principally for publicity purposes. We have nothing to conceal, for we only ask our simple elemental rights. We want the public to know every phase of our business.

Only recently, the U. S. Department of Education issued a pamphlet showing the extent and value per annum of the school book business in this country. It was conclusive, and put a quietus immediately upon slanderous and wildly exaggerated statements by alleged statesmen, of the millions and millions of dollars unnecessarily spent for school books in the United States. Authoritative publicity would as effectively advise the various State Legislatures of the reasonableness of the cost of school books and the reasonableness of our profit.

I certainly hope that an honest effort will be made at this time to interest all school book publishers in the right kind of a trade organization—an organization based upon constructive co-operation and legitimate protection. Meantime, let me suggest that we strenuously insist that the words "except as to prior contract" be written into all future contracts and filings. This is worth a most determined effort and is based upon right and square dealing.

I further suggest for your consideration the advisability of every house establishing a uniform price f.o.b. point of shipment, applicable to all and under whatever form of adoption. Let any state or any city adopt the mode of distribution it sees fit. That is their affair and not ours.

Another abuse in this business is the exchange price offered. It is unscientific and unsatisfactory, because the number of books coming under its operation varies, and, in the long run, neither benefits the publisher nor the customer. But, you say, what about existing contracts and unrepealed provisions in the statutes of the number of the states? I answer again: let us live out existing contracts and have the states amend their school laws. But will they? Why not, if it can be established that the state does not suffer the loss of a penny, for does not the publisher to-day in fixing his price take into account his loss in returns under an introduction of school books by reason of exchanges? If our f.o.b. price, point of shipment, could be the same to all—state, county or town—with list prices currently based upon the cost of doing business, the publishing of school books in this country would be safeguarded and stabilized and that, without greater cost in the long average to the purchasing public. Under ruinous conditions of competition many abuses, including the exchange feature, were agreed to by the publishers and written into the school laws of the various states.

What is an exchange?

An "exchange," as defined by Webster, is "To part with, give, or transfer to another, in consideration of something received as an equivalent." In our business, it means in its original and simpler form the act of swapping a new and valuable school book, at half its contract price, for an old, dirty, worn out and valueless text of like kind and grade, and in its higher and more recent form—demotional and promotional—the act of swapping a new book for anything in printed form from a Greek Testament to the county newspaper. Frankness compels me to admit, however, that school authorities never offer us anything of an immoral or sectarian nature. It seems to me that this peculiar form of festivity is well described in the dialog between the schoolmaster and the constable in "Love's Labour's Lost":

"The allusion holds in the exchange.

"T is true indeed; the collusion holds in the exchange.

God comfort thy capacity! I say, the allusion holds in the exchange.

And I say, the pollution holds in the exchange."

Now, suppose we try something constructive. Let us inaugurate a nation-wide propaganda of truth, of real facts. Suppose the whole question of price be explained intelligently and competently to the committees on education of the various Legislatures, to the several Governors and Attorneys General, to School Boards, and to State and City Superintendents. Suppose, in addition, we could get the United States Commission of Education to codify all state uniformity laws and recommend a text-book bill which would unquestionably be a great improvement on the school laws now in force, and while safeguarding the schools, would, at the same time, protect the publishers. Similarly, a contract form can be prepared that would meet the approval of the most technical Attorney General and yet would be safe for us to sign. I believe all these things can be realized thru proper work on our part; but the endeavor can be, without doubt, more effectively and more efficiently and more quickly made thru an organization. The voice of an organization carries. Let it demand an investigation. It was Lawrence who said:

"Reason and full inquiry are the only effectual antidotes of error. Give them full scope and they will uphold the truth, by bringing false opinions, and all the spurious offspring of ignorance, prejudice and self-interest before their severe tribunal and subjecting them to the test of investigation. Error alone needs artificial support; truth can stand by itself."

We have no desire to throttle competition; we welcome it—of the most intense character. We want each house to fix its own prices and there must be no attempt made in any manner, directly or indirectly, to interfere with this. It is the life and hope of every publishing house to have its texts compete with rival books in plan and purpose, merit and authorship, mechanical excellence and price, and from the nature of this business this will always be true. All we ask is to be allowed to do our business on clean and sound business principles, and cease to be the butt and target of "scurvy politicians who seem to see what they doth not."

You will appreciate, gentlemen, I am sure, that I have offered you only a rough and very imperfect sketch; the picture, if you wish to complete it, will be the result of the master touch of your own keener wisdom and ripper experience.

A SURVEY OF THE COUNTRY'S ACTION AGAINST THE GERMAN LANGUAGE

EMPTY benches confront teachers of the German language all over the United States, said John Walker Harrington in a recent article in the New York Times. Instruction in the Teutonic tongue has fallen off in American schools by at least 50 per cent. and possibly 65, and by next September it will be near the vanishing point in the elementary classes.

Action hostile to teaching the speech of the enemy has been taken either by State or local authorities in thirty-six out of the forty-eight American Commonwealths.

"There is every reason to believe," says the argument presented by the Board of Superintendents, "that the high school pupils will themselves abolish the teaching of German by refusing to elect it. This is shown by the fact that there are at present in twenty-four high schools only 12,954 pupils studying German, whereas 23,898 were in German classes in February, 1917. There are only 1097 at present enrolled in first term German classes, when in February, 1917, there were 5859 in those same classes.

The falling off in the study of German in the high schools of the metropolis, which was 50 per cent. before the action of the board, has been taken up by the Spanish classes.

In the State of New York an order has been issued by the Department of Education that all schools must teach in English, and an investigation is being made of all foreign language schools.

New Jersey thru its State Board of Education began last April to stimulate the introduction of Spanish as a substitute for German in her schools wherever possible.

The State Board of Education of Connecticut adopted a resolution that all books used in its schools, except in the high schools, should be in the English language.

Massachusetts adopted a law providing that every public high school of not less than 150 pupils, offering a business course, should give instruction in commercial Spanish. Boston is reluctant to exile German from its classic portals. Beginning with next autumn, Worcester will reduce the schools where German is taught from five to two in the preparatory division of the grammar department.

New Hampshire a few weeks ago passed a law that no text-books should be used in her schools which favored any political party or sect. The statute was a thinly disguised attack on the German propaganda.

Vermont is making an investigation of German influences on her pupils.

Maine has never had much of a Teutonic tide, and there are only twenty-nine of her schools which teach German.

In Rhode Island no definite action has yet been taken regarding the instruction in the language, altho a committee was appointed to examine the courses used in the schools of Providence for evidences of German propaganda.

Even in the Keystone State, famed as the home of the "Pennsylvania Dutch," the trend against the learning of German is marked.

The speech of Kultur has fallen out of educational favor along the Atlantic seaboard. The State Board of Education of Delaware forbade instruction in German in all the schools under its control after the academic year just closed. Altho Maryland has not acted, the authorities of Baltimore directed that no German should be taught in the elementary schools of the City of Monuments.

Education in the District of Columbia is supervised by Congress and there are movements on foot destined to remove German from all the schedules in the national capitol.

Opposition to the teaching of German rears an almost solid front in the South.

"German will be discontinued and French taught instead in the ensuing year in the schools," writes Frank Evans, Superintendent of the schools of Spartansburg, S. C.

"I doubt whether German is being taught anywhere in Mississippi," reports W. F. Bond, the Superintendent of Public Instruction in that Commonwealth.

As so very few pupils wished German, the New Orleans Parish School Board voted to discontinue German instruction with the close of the academic year.

Florida discarded all German books from the State-adopted texts. Texas has taken no action. There is a strong sentiment against German instruction in Georgia, and such cities as Athens have dropped it from their high schools.

The State Superintendent of Alabama is riding the classrooms in that region of German propaganda, and it is the intention of the State Board, he writes, to submit a bill to the Legislature providing for the teaching of patriotism in the public schools.

In Tennessee, German was excluded from the entire county school system.

Virginia has as yet taken no decision, but in West Virginia there is a strong anti-Teutonic movement.

"Many of our high schools," to quote the State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Kentucky, "have cut out German entirely, and others have censored their text-books."

One of the surprises of the year was the abolishing of German in the schools of Cincinnati, for in that Ohio city the Germans were so numerous that when one spoke of going "over the Rhine," as the canal was called, he meant that he was disappearing into a realm where all English was left behind.

Cleveland, where year after year the German party had foisted their language on the schools, not only put the German text-books out of the schools, but provided cans in the principal streets, where pupils and public might throw all the volumes they wished to have destroyed.

"German," writes Horace Ellis, State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Indiana, "is being practically excluded from the schools next year."

Illinois permits probably wider latitude to the local school boards than any State in the Union, and for this reason it is difficult to learn the attitude of her educators.

Michigan's Superintendent of Public Instruction says that many of the high schools will discontinue all German instruction next year.

Wisconsin leaves much of her education to local option, but strong adjurations to patriotism and unity of spirit have been issued by the State Board.

"In Nebraska," said Richard L. Metcalfe of the State Council for Defense, "there are eighteen districts where German has been driven out of the public schools."

On the recommendation of the State Department of Public Instruction all public schools in Iowa decided last April to discontinue the training in German.

German was dropped also from nearly every high school in the State of Arkansas.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction in North Dakota, a Commonwealth in which there are many citizens of Teutonic descent, recommended that umlaut drills be omitted for those in the elementary and high schools as rapidly as possible after July 1, 1918.

The sister State of South Dakota has as yet taken no definite action.

Despite the fact that Missouri has a strong Teutonic element, the State Superintendent of Schools declares that only one high school in the State, outside of the cities, is maintaining a German course.

R. H. Wilson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Oklahoma, says in an official circular to local boards: "So far as I have been able to learn there will not be a high school in the State teaching German when school opens next September."

Idaho has prohibited German entirely in her schools up to the ninth grade, and the advisability of such instruction in the high schools was left to the communities.

The local authorities in Wyoming dropped the German classes, while the City of Laramie burned all its German text-books.

The State Superintendent of Nevada writes that the teaching of German has been largely discontinued in his jurisdiction.

The University of Colorado abolished its German courses after adopting scathing resolutions on the subject.

Montana and Utah, at this writing, are making an investigation of their school books in quest of Prussian propaganda.

All courses in German were discarded from the high schools of California by a resolution of the State Board of Education.

By order of the State Board of Education the study of the German language was discontinued in New Mexico. Arizona has not yet reached a decision. In Spokane schools have dropped it.

How greatly the demand for German language teachers is declining is shown in the falling off in the registration of normal courses for them at the Summer school of Teachers College, Columbia University.

Many leading college educators, however, are disposed to uphold the study of German for advanced students, as they think it will be of value to them in scientific and technical work.

"Not until we entered the world conflict did we pause, take stock, and discover the sinister influence of German Kultur in the schools of the country. Now we find that there has been an organized program for the Germanizing of America," says Dr. L. D. Coffman, Dean of Education of the University of Minnesota.

PAPER CONSERVATION FOR TEXT-BOOK PUBLISHERS

LAST May representatives of more than 75 per cent of the school text-book publishing business of the country were in conference at the offices of the United States Fuel Administration in Washington, with P. B. Noyes, the administration's director of conservation, and A. D. Shaw, chairman of the commercial economy committee of the War Industries Board. Means of conserving the paper supply were discussed.

After the conference the publishers announced the appointment of a war service committee, as follows: Charles Scribner, Charles Scribner's Sons; Louis M. Dillman, American Book Co.; William Pulsifer, D. C. Heath & Co.; H. H. Hilton, Ginn & Co.; Edward W. Fielder, C. E. Merrill Co.; George P. Brett, the Macmillan Co.; and J. D. Phillips, Houghton Mifflin Co.

Other publishers present were C. G. Wells and M. R. Jowett, Jr., Ginn & Co.; J. F. McCullough, D. Appleton & Co.; F. H. Blake, R. S. Foss, American Book Co.; E. S. Mills, Longmans Green & Co.; William Neisel, Funk & Wagnalls Co.; S. E. Norris, John Wiley & Sons; Edward N. Bristol, Henry Holt & Co.; Edward Lord, Charles Scribner's Sons; E. B. Blackburn, Benj. H. Sanborn & Co.; and Capt. John M. Manly, University of Chicago Press.

As a further step toward paper economy Thomas E. Donnelly, Chief of the Paper and Pulp Section of the War Industries Board at Washington, has just sent out the following questionnaire containing recommendations to text-book publishers. It is generally understood that these recommendations will be made effective unless substantial reasons are presented that it is impossible to comply.

Questionnaire for Text Book Publishers.

1. Price list to be substituted for catalog. The price list shall not contain more than the titles, authors, prices, grade for which the book is intended, and ten words of descriptive matter. Publishers with no salesmen, and who do their entire business by mail, will be allowed to publish their catalog in their present form.

2. No new circular shall be issued containing more than four pages. No page is to be over $8\frac{1}{2}$ x 11 inches in size. Circulars to be printed in one color only, and coated paper to be used. Circulars which do not comply with these conditions shall not be reprinted.

3. The return or consignment privilege shall not be allowed except on introductions, in which case not over 20 per cent. of the stock ordered may be returned.

4. No coated paper shall be used in the printing of text-books hereafter, except in cases where coated paper is necessary to print color work of such character that it cannot be properly printed on uncoated papers; all of such exceptions to be listed with the Pulp and Paper Section of the War Industries Board.

5. The publication of new school and college text-books during the war shall be reduced to 50 per cent. or less of the average number issued during the five years preceding January 1, 1918.

6. Wherever possible the weight of paper employed in books is to come within the standards established for book papers, namely:

Maximum weight of Machine Finish shall not be over 25 x 38—50 lb.

Maximum weight of Sized and Supercalendar, English finish, shall not be over 25 x 38—60 lb.

Also wherever possible, the weights of board shall be reduced.

7. No desk or examination copies are to be distributed without charge. The plan to be followed is that now a part of the Text-book Law of California. Accompanying each bill for examination copies the following statement should be used:

"As a war measure the Paper and Pulp Section of the War Industries Board deem it necessary that all examination copies be sent billed on approval at not less than the wholesale prices plus transportation. If the books are retained they are to be paid for at the prices billed; otherwise they are to be returned within thirty days after a decision has been reached as to adoption, when credit in full will be given."

8. The Paper Administrator should address a letter to adopting bodies thruout the country, suggesting that during the war changes in text-books be as few as possible consistent with the welfare of the schools.

UNIFORM ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS IN ENGLISH

FOLLOWING is the list of books adopted by the National Conference on Uniform Entrance Requirements in English. The old name, College Entrance Requirements, has been changed because this list is now widely used in many institutions other than those preparing distinctly for college. The 1919 list is identical with the list as published last year. The 1919-1922 list, it should be noted, is not only somewhat different in arrangement but contains numerous new titles.

COMPREHENSIVE LIST

THE following list is not intended to be in any sense prescriptive. Its purpose is rather to indicate, by examples, the kind of literature that secondary pupils should be taught to appreciate. Books of equal merit, covering a similar range of literary types, will be accepted as equivalents. New titles are in bold-face.

A fairly exhaustive list of books suitable for use in secondary schools will be included in the Report of the National Joint Committee on the Reorganization of High School English, to be published later by the United States Commissioner of Education.

AMONG THE PUBLISHERS

ALBERT BUSHNELL HART has entered the field of grade school histories and the American Book Co. have made his "School History of the United States" one of the most attractive of new text books. Full consideration is given to our economic history and to the place of the West in American development.

The very strong series of business books that has characterized Appleton's educational list has been appropriately strengthened by Scovill's volume, "Farm Accounting". The clear and complete discussion of cost accounting is worthy of special study.

One of the best collections of its kind is Long's "American Patriotic Prose" (D. C. Heath & Co.) with notes and biographies.

Allen's "South America" in Ginn's Geographical and Industrial Studies series makes a welcome addition to the available books for children on our southern neighbors.

Weekly Record of New Publications

The entry is transcribed from title page when the book is sent by publisher for record. Books received, unless of minor importance, are given descriptive annotation. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

Imprint date is stated [or best available date, preferably copyright date, in brackets] only when it differs from year of entry. Copyright date is stated only when it differs from imprint date: otherwise simply "c." No ascertainable date is designated thus: [n. d.]

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are indicated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.) Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.); sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow. For books not received sizes are given in numerals, 4°, 8°, etc.

Jacqueline Joscelyn, whose mother has been mildly insane ever since her daughter's birth, is brought up by her aunt, Lady Berengaria. Jacqueline is affectionate but critical and rather stubborn. She loves her mother above everyone else, but is at length forced to acknowledge that her mother hates her. She leaves home and hastily marries Count Selvaggio about whom she knows nothing, but who proves to be a German spy. He is discovered and put to death soon after their marriage. Jacqueline's aunt dies about the same time, and Jacqueline determines to give up the rest of her life in devotion to her mother. Her mother in an attempt to poison her, poisons herself instead. Jacqueline then turns her house into a hospital for wounded soldiers and comes to love Lord Holmstone who has cared for her since before her marriage.

Margarita's actor father died in poverty just before her birth and her mother became insane. She was brought up roughly, but generally not unkindly by the Irish landlady. Her chief happiness was in Otto, a German bookseller, who taught her to read and encouraged her imaginative tendencies. Margarita's mother recovered and married a rich man. Chance restored her child, but the girl was not entirely happy in her new surroundings. She suffered from not finding the idealism which Otto had taught her, but in time the love of Paul, her mother's stepson, opened up a new world.

THE AMERICAN Educational Catalogue for 1918

REVISED AND CORRECTED TO JULY, 1918, AND INCLUDING:

I. TEXTBOOKS FOR KINDERGARTENS AND GRADE SCHOOLS, HIGH SCHOOLS AND ACADEMIES

The list is as complete as possible in this field. Alphabetical by author or by series.

II. GREEK AND LATIN TEXTS

A complete list indexed by editors' names. Also dictionaries and translations.

III. ENGLISH LITERATURE TEXTS AND THOSE OF MODERN EUROPEAN LANGUAGES

Alphabetical by author and including all the most called for editions of the books that are being used for class-room study and college preparation.

IV. SUPPLEMENTARY READING

A very comprehensive list arranged by authors of the best books in every field for use in or out of the class-room.

V. TECHNICAL EDUCATION, MANUAL TRAINING, DOMESTIC SCIENCE, ETC.

A comprehensive selection of the most prominent texts.

VI. PEDAGOGICS, VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE, AND TEACHERS' AIDS

A selection of the best known books.

THE LIST DOES NOT INCLUDE textbooks used only for university courses or for highly specialized professional and technical training. Books under 10 c. in price are omitted. Also out of print books, editions that are now revised or superseded, or those now in little demand. For such see Educational Lists of previous years.

THE PRICES ARE NET as revised by the publishers to July, 1918, but under present conditions are subject to change without notice.

A dagger (†) designates books that are subject to more than the usual educational discount to dealers.

A double asterisk () designates books forthcoming and as yet unpriced.

A blank in the price column means that the publisher failed to give information.

The bindings are cloth unless otherwise specified.

When editor's name or series name is indicated, it is given in parenthesis after the title.

THE KEY TO PUBLISHERS' NAMES WILL BE FOUND FACING THIS PAGE.

AN INDEX BY SUBJECT CLASSIFICATION FOLLOWS THE AUTHOR LIST.

This classified list will be found useful in suggesting books on allied subjects or in bringing to mind authors and editions half remembered.

IN ORDERING FROM THIS LIST be particular to specify edition and to give full name of the book as entered.

KEEP YOUR BACK NUMBERS of the American Educational List, as publishers are dropping many titles from their catalogs.

KEY TO SUBJECT CLASSIFICATION

For the American Educational List, 1918

The following index is a key to the classification used in the American Educational list.

ART	KINDERGARTEN	PEDAGOGY AND	SUPPLEMENTARY
BUSINESS TRAINING	LANGUAGE AND	TEACHERS' AIDS	READING
ECONOMICS AND	LITERATURE	PENMANSHIP	TECHNICAL
CIVICS	MATHEMATICS	PHILOSOPHY	AND HIGHER
GEOGRAPHY	MUSIC	PHYSICAL TRAINING	EDUCATION
HISTORY	NATURAL SCIENCE	READING AND	VOCAUTIONAL
		ELOCUTION	GUIDANCE

Divisions of these main headings are shown by black face lower case and sub-divisions by SMALL CAPS. The index below shows under which of the main heads any specific subject may be sought, except that self-evident references as from French language to Language, are not given.

The Publishers' Weekly

Subscription Rates.

One year, postage prepaid in the United States, $5.00; foreign, $6.00.
Single copies, 10 cents. Educational Number, in leatherette, 50 cents, Christmas Bookshelf, 25 cents.

Advertising Rates.

Front section (full pages only).....	$35.00
(Back section, unspecified position)
One page	30 00
Half page	17 00
Quarter page	9 00
Eighth page	5 00
One-sixteenth page	2 50

The above rates are for unspecified positions. Special rates for preferred positions (full pages only).

Higher rates are charged for the Summer Reading, Educational Number and Christmas Bookshelf, and for the monthly Book Review supplement sections.

Advertising copy should reach us Tuesday noon—earlier if proof is desired out-of-town. Forms close Thursday night.

Under the headings of "BOOKS WANTED" and "BOOKS FOR SALE" book-trade subscribers are given under their own names five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertising for specified books, not more than one title to the line, in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding one hundred lines a year, a maximum of fifty lines under "Books Wanted" and fifty lines under "Books for Sale," and if over five lines are sent for either department in only one issue, or fifty lines for each department within the calendar year, the excess is at ten cents a line. Bills for this service will be rendered monthly. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "HELP WANTED" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 15 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the line.

And Other Essays

Articles from the Educational Creed of an American Oxonian by FRANK AYDELOTTE, Professor of English in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. 225 pagesnet $1.25

"Mr. Aydelotte is one of those rare men who have noticed that here in the United States a tremendous amount of time is devoted to the study of the English language and literature, without the attainment of any proportionate result. He gives several very interesting chapters to his diagnosis of the disease and to the discussion of the remedy; and these chapters should be read by every one who has suffered under the old thoughtless régime of 'composition' and skeletonized fragments of the living body of literature."

SERVE YOUR COUNTRY IN THE SCHOOL ROOM

CAROLYN
SHERWIN

FOR UNCLE SAM

A direct response to President Wilson's plea to educators to devote greater attention "to instruction bearing directly on the problems of community and National life." It is the first book in citizenship that translates National ideals into practical school and home activities for boys and girls.

The subjects are those recommended by the government and leading educators for the first teaching of the principles of democracy. They include: health, economy, conservation, wealth, transportation, charities, education, life saving, and Junior service through Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and the Junior Red Cross.

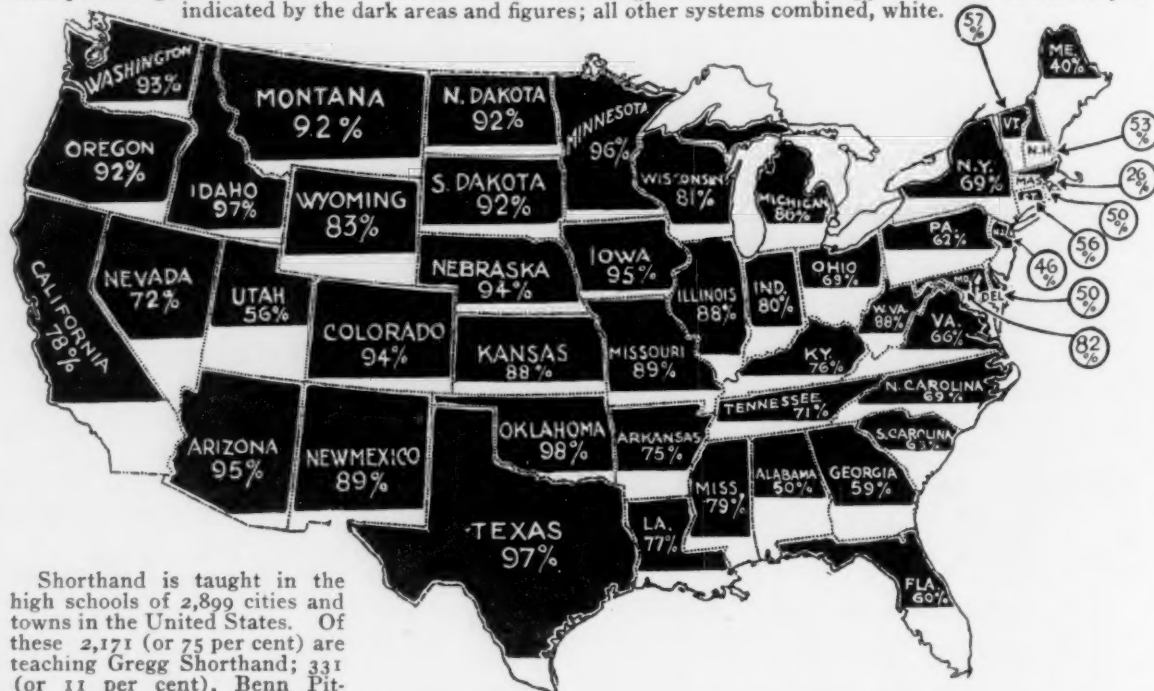

The most prominent educators in the country unite in calling it "the book of the hour." Write for special introductory and exchange terms. (Grades 4-6.) List Price, $0.75.

GREGG SHORTHAND in the HIGH SCHOOLS

The percentage of cities and towns in each state whose high schools teach Gregg Shorthand exclusively is indicated by the dark areas and figures; all other systems combined, white.

Shorthand is taught in the high schools of 2,899 cities and towns in the United States. Of these 2,171 (or 75 per cent) are teaching Gregg Shorthand; 331 (or 11 per cent), Benn Pitman; 101 (or 4 per cent), Isaac Pitman; 66 (or 2 per cent), Graham; 32 (or 1 per cent), Munson; all other systems combined 198 (or 7 per cent). ¶ The leadership of Gregg Shorthand in the private schools is even greater—more than 85 per cent of these schools are teaching the system.

Books That Teach Patriotism

Long's American Patriotic Prose

A collection of the wisest, most informing, and most inspiring utterances of patriots, statesmen, historians, and leaders of American thought and action. The selections are grouped under ten heads:

The Streams of American Life.	Washington.	Gallant Youth.
The Colonies.	Struggle and Growth.	Responsibility.
Independence Developed.	Division and Reunion.	Opportunity.
The Declaration.

The book is unique in its content and in the contribution that it makes to the resources of those who are seeking to develop in the rising generation a more ardent and a more intelligent patriotism. Cloth. 380 pages. $1.00.

Dunn's The Community and the Citizen

Reveals to the youth the privileges and responsibilities of citizenship. Emphasizes the interdependence of the individual and society, and the function of government in expressing the collective will of society as organized force, organized justice, and organized good will. Every pupil who studies this book is thereby aided to become a more intelligent, more patriotic, and more useful citizen. Cloth. Illus. 312 pages. $1.00.

WHEELER'S GRADED READERS By GAIL CALMERTON and WILLIAM H. WHEELER

WHEELER'S GRADED PRIMER

List Price, 30 Cents

Cloth, 132 pages, 50 engravings, 28 of them full-page.

The primer vocabulary is small—only 250 words. New words are introduced gradually and regularly and repeated frequently. The sentences are short and easy. The language is plain, natural and conversational. The thought is simple, childlike, and pure. The little stories are stories, and not mere drill upon words.

WHEELER'S GRADED FIRST READER

List Price, 30 Cents

Cloth, 128 pages, 40 engravings, 20 of them full-page.

There is the very closest connection between the Wheeler Primer and the Wheeler First Reader. The plan of the two books is the same. The First Reader begins right where the Primer ends. These books are graded not only from lesson to lesson, but from book to book.

WHEELER'S GRADED SECOND READER

Cloth, 160 pages, 33 engravings, 25 of them full-page.

This Second Reader is so carefully graded that it follows the First Reader as easily and naturally as the First Reader follows the Primer. The authors have not forgotten that the Second Reader children need constant drill on familiar words to keep from forgetting them, and that the new words must not be introduced too rapidly.

WHEELER'S GRADED THIRD READER

List Price, 50 Cents

Cloth, 288 pages, 37 engravings, 25 of them full-page.

The mission of this Third Reader is to continue the fundamental processes of learning to read and to create and foster a taste for good reading. The stories are longer and more complete and more conversational than those found in other third readers. The aim of the authors has been to make each lesson so simple that the children can read it easily, and so full of interest that the children will let the thought and the feeling of what they read come from their hearts as well as from their lips. This is the secret of good expression.

WHEELER'S GRADED FOURTH READER

List Price, 50 Cents

Cloth, 288 pages, 31 engravings, 26 of them full-page.

The length of the selections is a special feature of this book, the selections being long enough to be interesting and to mean something when standing alone. Many of the selections were chosen with a definite purpose of introducing the animate children to the children of fiction. Jackanapes, Cosette, Little Charley, Tom and Maggie Tulliver, Paul and Florence Dombey and those other boys and girls of story land, should be as familiar to the children as their playmates.

WHEELER'S GRADED FIFTH READER

List Price, 60 Cents

Cloth, 448 pages, 39 engravings, 30 of them full-page.

This book was prepared with the conviction that the love for the best books—books which make us clearer in head, larger in heart and nobler in action—is better—a thousand times better—than all the material wealth the world can give; and with the hope that the pupils will like the charming people of the book world to whom they are here introduced too well to confine their acquaintance within the brief limits necessary to this book.

W. H. WHEELER & CO., Publishers, 616 South Michigan Ave., CHICAGO, ILL.
